Secretary Hughes Indorses Mills on "Splendid Record"

Calls Attention in Letter to Service of Representative and as a Congressman

Charles Evans Hughes, Secretary of State, indorsed the candidacy of Ogden L. Mills, candidate for re-election as Representative from the 17th Congressional District, through a letter read last night at a Mills rally at the Town Hall. The letter was read by George W. Wickham, who presided, and was received with cheers and the booming of the bass drum of the 166th Regiment Band. In compliment to Representative Mills and "Fighting Bill" Donovan, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, who sat beside him on the platform, both of whom were in the A. E. F., the commanding officers of the 166th Regiment attended the meeting in a body.

The letter from Secretary Hughes was as follows: "My Dear Mr. Wickham: Permit me to indorse most heartily the candidacy of Hon. Ogden L. Mills for re-election as Representative in Congress for the 17th Congressional District. Mr. Mills' record should have the unqualified commendation of his constituents.

"His record in Congress has more than justified the confidence inspired by his splendid service in the New York State Senate. His untiring industry, intimate knowledge of affairs and breadth of vision make him an invaluable Representative, and I trust he will receive at the polls the indorsement that he richly deserves.

"Very sincerely yours, CHARLES EVANS HUGHES."

Will Rogers, making his first political speech, spoke humorously on bootleggers and other campaign topics and concluded with a tribute to Theodore Roosevelt, "the only man who ever thanked me for saying something nice about his family."

The first half of the meeting belonged to Representative Mills and the second half to Colonel Donovan. The gallery were a hundred members of the "Fighting 69th," who greeted their former commander with the full force of their band and their robust young lungs.

"We are fighting for you again, Bill!" "Go on and make a speech if you can."

"You wouldn't have dared talk that way to me in 1917," retorted the candidate, amid laughter. He devoted his address to Governor Miller, "not a human adding machine, but a man of clear thinking, plain speaking and political courage."

New York Will Join in Tribute To Navy To-day

City to Honor Birthday of Theodore Roosevelt in Doing Homage to Fleet Ex - President Fostered

Scouts to Visit Grave

Business Houses, Homes and Vessels at Sea Will Fly Flag in Observance

New York will take part to-day in the Navy Day celebration which has been arranged to take place on the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt in order that fitting honor may be paid to one of the navy's staunchest friends by the organization he did so much to build up. To-day is the sixty-fourth anniversary of Mr. Roosevelt's birth.

President Harding, in an official indorsement of the plan to link Roosevelt's birthday with Navy Day, addressed to Secretary of the Navy Denby, referred to the early national beginning of the navy, which he declared should be an object of special pride to the American people.

The celebration will include observation in public schools throughout twenty-one states, as well as exercises by civic and memorial organizations. In a proclamation issued by Governor Miller Colonel Roosevelt's character is eulogized. The Governor urges "reflection on the life of a man whose deeds and ideals yield a perennial inspiration." Governor Miller adds:

Tribute Paid Roosevelt.

"From the time that Theodore Roosevelt entered the New York Assembly at the age of twenty-three he became a commanding personality, constantly deepening the impress of his extraordinary qualities on American society and associating himself with works of national benefit. He was practical in his no sordid sense, intellectual without aloofness, never permitting his personal and social sympathies, exerting a peculiar attraction over the mind and imagination of youth by virtue of that influence, calling into play its best energies. He is and will remain for Americans and for people beyond the boundaries of our country an inspiring figure."

Mayor Hylan issued a proclamation calling upon the residents of New York to assist in the observance of Navy Day. In it the Mayor heartily indorses the idea of commemorating the performances of the navy as the first line of defense. He urged the organization of patriotic societies and organizations, business houses and citizens by displaying the colors and by appropriate exercises.

A festival in recognition of Colonel Roosevelt's birthday will be held this evening in Carnegie Hall under the auspices of the Women's Roosevelt Association. George Wharton Pepper will deliver the principal address.

Others who will deliver addresses are August Belmont, Mrs. John Henry Hammond and Joseph P. Day.

Boy Scouts throughout the country will hold special exercises in honor of Mr. Roosevelt. These will take the form of outdoor mass meetings with speeches, the ceremonial planting of trees and the dedication of scout cabins. James E. West, chief scout executive, describes the scout purpose as to "honor and keep alive the memory of a great American and good scout, who kept his scout oath and law, and, secondly, to inspire scouts and others to be better citizens through the force of his example."

Scouts to Visit Grave

To-day's pilgrimage to Roosevelt's grave at Oyster Bay will be one of the chief features of the Scouts' observance. More than 1,000 Scouts will make the pilgrimage. A ceremony will take place at the grave and a wreath will be placed upon it by Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commander of the Atlantic fleet.

In thirty-five armories throughout New York State to-day portraits of Colonel Roosevelt will be unveiled. Scouts who kept their scout oath and law, and, secondly, to inspire scouts and others to be better citizens through the force of his example."

Feature of Navy Day in New York City will be the football game for the championship of the battleship force of the Atlantic fleet which will be played at the Polo Grounds this afternoon.

Ceremonial recognition of the day will be held under the auspices of the Fifth Avenue Association, with headquarters at 358 Fifth Avenue. A proclamation issued by Thomas W. Hughes, secretary of the organization, calls for decoration with flags and bunting of all business houses in Fifth Avenue.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the National Navy Club of New York, yesterday addressed a letter to clubs and business houses in furtherance of a plan to dispose of 200,000 navy buttons designed from an original by Sally James Farnham, famous sculptor. New Yorkers are urged to buy the buttons at a price ranging from ten to twenty-five cents to provide funds for the maintenance of the club.

Board of Trade Approves 33d St. Terminal Plan

Business Organization Urges Completion of Project for Suburban Trains

The Transit Commission's recent announcement that it was considering a plan to construct a new terminal on the site now occupied by the Madison Avenue streetcar barn, at Fourth Avenue and Thirty-third Street, to provide adequate facilities for a Manhattan suburban line serving Long Island and Westchester County, was approved in a resolution adopted yesterday at a special meeting of the directors of the Thirty-fourth Street Board of Trade at the Hotel MacLain.

"The investigations of the board," reads the resolution, "have definitely shown that the present terminal facilities are greatly congested and that new and adequate terminal facilities are absolutely necessary because of the immense increase in suburban travel, that a terminal on this centrally located site would relieve congestion at other points by a proper distribution of passengers, that the location at this point midway in Manhattan would give the incoming and outgoing passengers immediate access to all subways, elevated and other transit lines of Greater New York."

The Thirty-fourth Street Board of Trade, Inc., approves and advocates the construction of a terminal for suburban traffic on the site bounded by Fourth Avenue, Lexington Avenue, Thirty-second and Thirty-third Streets, and urges prompt action by the public authorities to bring about the construction of such a terminal, possible, and hereby tenders its hearty cooperation to the fullest extent necessary."

Flushing Garage Raided for Coal Needed in Home

14 Tons of Anthracite Seized After Fuel Is Delivered Under Cover of Darkness to Firm in Broadway

Must Wait for Supplies

Consumers Are Told by an Official That Full Quotas Are Not Yet Available

The first seizure of coal in Queens County at the direction of the county fuel administrator was made Wednesday at Flushing, it was learned yesterday. Fourteen tons of anthracite, chestnut size, was taken from the cellar of the Flushing Auto Garage, Inc., 110 Broadway, Flushing, and turned over to a local dealer for distribution to fourteen families.

The raid on Flushing Auto Garage, Inc., was made after it had been reported to the fuel administration office in Queens that an excessive quantity of coal had been delivered to the Flushing concern under cover of darkness.

Several Tons on Hand

Assistant District Fuel Administrator Samuel Drummond said last night that the fourteen-ton delivery was made by a representative of the Blue Ridge Coal Corporation despite the fact that there were several tons of coal in the place at the time. "The county administrator," he said, "feeling that those fourteen tons would do more good distributed among households in Flushing than they could possibly do in a garage, notified the owners of his intention to seize the coal. It was removed and one ton distributed to each of fourteen different families."

Lawrence Cordeau, of the Flushing Auto Garage, Inc., said that the concern's monthly coal consumption was fourteen tons. He said that "the time of the delivery was a matter up to the coal firm and not under our control."

Drummond Upheld

Arthur S. Leary, district fuel administrator, made public yesterday a letter to S. R. Roser, representing the Kensington Coal Association, in reply to the latter's complaints of failing to receive assistance from Samuel Drummond, county fuel agent for Brooklyn and Queens.

The letter defends the stand of Mr. Drummond as well as the principle adopted by the state administration of refusing requests for assistance based on an effort to secure 100 per cent supply of egg, stove and chestnut coal.

Mr. Roser complained to Mr. Leary "that the only information got from Mr. Drummond was that he couldn't get any more coal," and added that the Kensington Association would like to know what he was appointed for. He also stated that "we don't think the people's money should be spent for a fuel administration to tell them merely that."

Consumers Warned

"With but approximately 55 per cent of the normal production, the answer to you," Mr. Leary wrote, "must be that you cannot get your full normal supply."

requirements of the sizes mentioned."

The fuel administration stands ready to help you. Mr. Leary continued in his letter, "but it cannot help you get 100 per cent supply when the rest of the citizens are asked to get along with 60 to 70 per cent. It cannot help you get 100 per cent help yourselves by heeding the oft repeated advice and pleadings of the administration in connection with the use of some substitutes," he continued.

Then, in reference to the query concerning Mr. Drummond: "You ask what Mr. Drummond is paid for. As a matter of fact, he does not receive a cent of compensation in connection with his duties as fuel administrator and the office occupied by him is given free to the state."
